

A Unified Business Management Suite for Fintech Businesses to Maximise Growth

By Campbell McLeish – Marketing Manager at Nolan Business Solutions

As a Fintech company you need a business management system that will support rapid growth and be flexible enough to adapt and evolve as your business takes off. A cloud-based system enables you to concentrate on growing your business without worrying if the system will scale quickly enough to keep up.

Get the right system in place

It is essential to get the right system in place from the start as changing systems after a few years of trading is time consuming, and unnecessary if you get it right from the outset. With our cloud-based systems, such as NetSuite, you can start small and quickly add users and functionality as your business grows. If you build solid foundations your business will be more attractive to investors. It will also be easier to attract funding and you will be able to scale without painful upgrades.

Fintech companies often have relatively complex regulatory and financial requirements due to operating in multiple countries and currencies. It is crucial that the business management suite can support global rollouts, multiple languages, local tax legislation, multi book reporting and advanced revenue management.

Culture of the business

The system must fit with the culture of the business, after all your staff are used to working in a cutting-edge environment, so you need to provide class leading tools for them to reach their own potential and to attract and retain the best people in your organisation.

Save time

All too often Fintech start-ups buy several low-end systems and then waste time trying to integrate them together. For example, why buy separate CRM and ERP solutions when NetSuite can do it all in one fully unified business management suite.

Overcome challenges with Nolan Business Solutions and NetSuite

Rapid deployment

With our cloud-based solutions and experience we can implement systems rapidly. We handle data migration, configuration and training and will build an agile implementation plan around your requirements. Being cloud-based means no costly infrastructure to manage or upgrade increasing deployment timescales.

Enabling growth

Our solutions grow with you. You take advantage of enterprise level functionality from the beginning simply utilising more features as your requirements grow. We support and enable your business growth with our experience of other like-minded businesses and our intelligent solutions.

Global business

Operating in multiple countries is easy in the internet age and your business systems must enable your business to quickly take advantage of opportunities in other territories. Our solutions are multi-lingual, support over 190 currencies and are used in more than 160 countries.

Multi-book accounting

To report financial results within compliance based on multiple accounting standards concurrently, accounting departments can now take advantage of NetSuite Multi-Book to comply with multiple sets of financial books in parallel, and issue your financial statements in accordance with whichever accounting standards are required.

Revenue recognition

Revenue recognition can be one of the most complex areas for your finance team to manage. Analyse actual revenue impacts as well as forecasts that dynamically respond to actual postings to give an updated expected revenue picture for future periods, all with the ability to drill back into the source sales document or transaction.

All in one system

A single scalable solution that encompasses Marketing, CRM, Accounting, Sales and Purchase Order processing, Customer Service, Ecommerce, Procurement, Employee Expenses and Project Management.

Find out more

To find out more about Nolan Business Solutions, a NetSuite Solutions Provider and Partner, and how we can unlock your growth potential visit our website www.nolanbusinesssolutions.com or speak to one of our team on 01252 811 663.

Celebrating 30 years of innovation, helping our clients grow

About us:

Founded in 1988, Nolan Business Solutions is an international solutions provider which delivers software to mid-market businesses. Focused on industry leading CRM and ERP solutions, Nolan Business Solutions supports its customer's growth with flexible, scalable and intelligent solutions implemented and supported by experienced consultants.

With an expert development team, Nolan Business Solutions also create innovative and popular SuiteApps and customised development services to those with more complex needs.

Nolan Business Solutions has delivered real benefits to over 2,500 customers worldwide through software, professional implementation and outstanding customer support.

ORACLE® NETSUITE
Solution Provider